FOREWORD

At the suggestion of Government agencies advocating the conservation of paper, the 1942-43 catalogue number of the Bulletin appears in abbreviated form. In preparing the material an attempt has been made to include all the essential items of information about the College which would normally appear in the catalogue. In cases where more detailed information is desired, the reader is urged to communicate with the college office.

DICKINSON COLLEGE AND THE WAR

Both the student's needs and the Country's needs have been taken into account by Dickinson College in reorganizing its program during the period of the war.

Dickinson College is cooperating with the Government in offering courses especially designed to aid students who shall enter the armed forces of the Nation. Among these aids are courses which meet the requirements of the United States Navy for officers training under the V-1, V-5, and V-7 Naval program.

Aviation under the direction of the Civil Aeronautics Authority is also offered to students who qualify.

New courses have been added to the curriculum designed to train both men and women for much needed fields of non-combatant service and individual attention is given to each student in planning his or her course to meet the present demands.

A new physical fitness program, following the suggestions of governmental officials, is compulsory for all students. The knowledge of how to keep well, along with the methods for producing and maintaining health, are a part of this course.

A strong and reorganized program of extra-curricular activities is being conducted by a committee of students and faculty known as the "Committee of Sixteen." Such projects as First Aid, Civilian Defense, Red Cross, Morale, and Propaganda come under the direction of this committee. It also cooperates in the reorganized social life of the College, to meet the social needs of the student under conditions produced by the War.

Dickinson College, being limited in enrollment, can offer much time to students in consultation about their personal problems with both members of the faculty and of the administration. This is an important service in these times of uncertainty and tension.

AN ALL YEAR PROGRAM OF STUDIES

Dickinson College, while maintaining the traditional four-year course for graduation, also offers to both men and women students an opportunity to complete their work for a degree in thirty-two calendar months.

By the first plan the student attends only the fall and winter sessions in each of four calendar years. For good and sufficient reasons many students will find this plan preferable and Dickinson College continues, therefore, the policy of admitting students under its terms.

By the second plan, which is known as the All Year Program of Studies, the student attends the summer session as well as the fall and winter sessions and can complete the academic requirements for graduation in eight such semesters or in thirty-two calendar months.

Under the plan for the All Year Program of Studies, students are admitted in June, September, and February. Complete details of this plan including costs, etc., will be sent upon request.

Young men especially are urged to consider this "All Year Program," since in most cases it makes the completion of college possible in the student's twentieth year or under the present governmental policy before he is likely to be called for service under the Selective Service Act.

It is decidedly to the advantage of the student to complete as much of his college work as possible before he is required to enter the service of his country. He thereby becomes a more valuable person to his country both in the time of war and in the reconstruction period of the peace.

This plan presents new problems to the prospective student. College authorities have studied these problems and will be glad to assist any student in solving them who applies.

Promptness in making application will be to the advantage of students planning to enter the College in June.

DICKINSON COLLEGE

HISTORICAL RESUME

On March 3, 1773, Thomas and Richard Penn, Proprietors of Pennsylvania, conveyed to nine trustees a plot of ground in Carlisle for the purpose of maintaining a grammar school. This school continued in operation until it was absorbed by the College, which was incorporated by the Legislature of Pennsylvania on September 9, 1783. Seven of the grammar school trustees became trustees of the College, which enlarged and occupied the grammar school building until 1803. This site was unsatisfactory and various efforts were made to obtain a better one, including that of the Carlisle Barracks which had been established by the British in 1751 and which is now the field training school of the Medical Corps of the United States Army. The present main campus of the College was purchased from the Penn family in 1799 and the construction of a large brick building was begun. This building was destroyed by fire in 1803 and in its place was erected the present West College, designed by Latrobe, the architect of the Capitol at Washington. It is built of native limestone and is regarded as one of the outstanding examples of Georgian architecture in America.

The plant of the College, consisting of over a dozen buildings, is mostly of limestone, in Georgian design. The main campus, on which six buildings are situated, is surrounded by a low limestone wall, most of which is over a hundred years old, which adds to the distinctive charm of the landscape. Other buildings are grouped around this and on the new or Mooreland campus, consisting of twelve acres, acquired in 1933 and diagonally across from the main campus.

The College has been co-educational since the early 80's. Metzger Hall, the dormitory for women, and the Senior House, for women of the graduating class, are both located a short distance from the campus.

Throughout its entire history, the College has steadily adhered to the liberal arts tradition, emphasizing the development of the students' capacities and giving the basic preparation necessary for both the professions and business. The success of Dickinson graduates in life has proved the soundness of this educational philosophy. From time to time the curriculum is studied and revised in keeping with current methods and needs.

By action of the Board of Trustees, the undergraduate body is limited to a maximum of six hundred, of which not over twenty-five per cent may be women. The grounds, buildings and equipment of the College are conservatively appraised at approximately $1,750,000, and its invested endowment is approximately $1,500,000 and endowment pledges of approximately $350,000 additional have recently been received.

Dickinson should commend itself to those who desire a liberal arts education as the basis for their life work, with the advantage of a relatively small student body, resulting in personal attention by a faculty of professors trained and experienced in their subjects, assisted by associates and instructors, in a historic atmosphere unsurpassed by any college in the country and with past prestige fully maintained in the present.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING ELECTIVES

Elective studies in excess of the prescribed number of hours may be taken if, in the judgment of the Faculty, such additional work will not interfere with the regular work. No member of the Junior or Senior class, however, may take more than 17 hours of work if the general average for the preceding year was less than 75 without special faculty approval. For hours in excess of 17, an extra charge is made.

DICKINSON COLLEGE

HONORS IN A SPECIAL DEPARTMENT

A student who shows exceptional ability and interest in a particular subject is eligible under certain conditions to undertake special work leading to Honors in that department. Such work shall be directed by the professor of the student's major subject. Conferences between student and professor are held as often as may seem necessary. This work must be begun in February of the student's Junior year and continued through his Senior year. The total amount of work done in this year and a half of special study shall be the equivalent of eight semester hours.

GUIDANCE IN PRE-PROFESSIONAL TRAINING

Through a system of class deans fully conversant with the educational requirements of the professions, the student at Dickinson College is carefully advised regarding the training which will best fit him for the profession or occupation of his choice.

Pre-professional courses as such are not listed in the catalogue, but courses designed to fulfill the pre-professional requirements of each student are written in consultation with the student.

The experience of the College with a very successful record in pre-professional training and the advice of leaders in the professional fields form the basis of this advisory service.

More than fifty percent of Dickinson graduates go on to professional schools, while the remainder find positions in fields not requiring post-graduate work.

The College gives the training on the College level for law, medicine in all fields, dentistry, science, journalism, the ministry, teaching, as well as for business.

Special attention is also given to the student who has not yet determined what his vocation in life shall be and courses best suited to his aptitudes are planned for him.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

Below are given, in alphabetical order, the departments of instruction, with a description of the courses offered under each.

Credit for courses is based on the supposition that two hours of study accompany each period of recitation or lecture.

The College reserves the right to withdraw any course when the enrollment does not justify its continuation.

The classification of courses is as follows:

Numbers 1 to 9: Elementary courses (Freshman courses mainly).

Numbers 10 to 19: Sophomore courses mainly.

Numbers 20 and above are advanced courses.

Odd numbers indicate first-semester courses; even numbers, second-semester courses. A course through the year has two consecutive numbers. A hyphen designates a year course; a comma separates two independent semester courses. A course given either semester has two numbers. L following a number signifies a laboratory course.

Starred courses may be elected only with the permission of the instructor.

GENERAL INFORMATION

PAYMENT OF BILLS.—Before registration for any year's work there is required of each student payment of a Registration Fee of $25 (for Metzger residents, $50) to be credited later on the college bill. This fee is returnable only in case the student is not accepted. It is not returnable if student withdraws application.

College bills for each semester are presented and are payable at the opening of the semester.

Failure to adjust college bills when due will result in exclusion from College, and no student can have honorable dismissal or certificate of advancement until bills have been adjusted and other reasonable obligations honorably met.

The Trustees reserve the right at any time to amend or add to the regulations of the College, including those concerning fees and methods of payment, and to make such changes applicable to students at present in the College, as well as to new students.

DISCOUNTS.—For two or more students from the same family, and for children of ministers, a discount of 10 per cent is allowed on the General Charge account, but not on any other part of the college bill. No double discount is allowed. No fees are returned except in cases of illness. If a student leaves college because of illness within one month after the opening of the semester, one half of the semester fee may be refunded. No reduction will be allowed for absence of students withdrawn for unsatisfactory conduct or scholarship.

Rooms in the dormitories are secured to the students during term-time only, and occupants are responsible for damage to them. When students injuring property are unknown, the cost of repairs may be assessed toward the close of the college year upon the whole body of students, as a special damage account. Any student proved to be guilty of wilful destruction of, or damage to, college property, may be required to pay not only the cost of replacement or repair, but also a fine as determined by the Faculty, said fine to be placed on the special damage account.

DICKINSON COLLEGE

All Freshmen men other than commuters are required to room in Conway Hall. Male members of the other classes who are not commuters must room either in the College dormitories or in the fraternity houses.

GOVERNMENT AND DISCIPLINE.—Students are expected to conform to the requirements of good morals and good citizenship. In the absence of specific regulations, the Faculty is charged with passing on matters respecting the general life of the students in the College. In practice, however, the regulation of the life of the student body is left largely to the students themselves. Among the regulations of the College is the following: "In particular, any use of intoxicating liquor, failure to give truthful testimony to an officer of the College, and dishonesty in college work are considered very serious offenses and usually lead to dismissal."

GUIDANCE.—The limited enrollment of the College makes possible student contacts with professors for purposes of guidance. Class deans are always available for personal conferences. Tests to indicate vocational aptitudes may be secured on request of the student from the psychology faculty. A vocational guidance room is situated in Denny Hall, where materials relative to vocations open to college women can be obtained and where consultations may be arranged with the Dean of Women.

PLACEMENT.—The interest of the College in the student does not terminate with graduation. The Department of Education maintains wide contacts with school authorities for the purpose of placing graduates who are qualified to teach. A faculty committee for placement also operates in fields other than teaching.

HEALTH SERVICE.—The wholesome and regular life of the College reduces illness among the students to a minimum.

For emergency and minor illnesses, an infirmary for resident women is provided in Metzger Hall, first-aid equipment in the department of Physical Education for Women, and an infirmary in Conway Hall for resident men.

For special treatment and serious illness, the Carlisle Hospital is available. The medical staff of the College con-

In order to provide immediate financial help for students who after graduation will be able to meet such obligations, the Board of Trustees set aside annually a limited amount of funds to be used as scholarship loans, a part of which grant in aid is to be repaid by the student after graduation. This fund is intended for those students only who have an unusual financial problem.
